HUMAN CLINICAL BREAKTHROUGH ON AGING TELOMERES CONFIRMS DECREASED TELOYEAR AGE BY 8.52 YEARS WITH NATURAL INGREDIENT SUPPLEMENT

New Human Clinical Research Unlocks the Key Elements that Causes Cellular aging; Telomeres, an Important Piece of the Puzzle of Human Cellular Aging.

July 9, 2018 – San Diego, California – Certified Nutraceuticals, Inc. is pleased to announce the positive results of the year-long human clinical research on the new highly purified proprietary natural ingredient, “Telos95®” – the only scientifically validated ingredient for Telomere health support.

Certified Nutraceuticals (CN) continues to stay on the forefront of research and innovation and is always 3-5 years ahead of its time with new anti-aging ingredients. Our newest invention, Telos95®, is a remarkable achievement that took several years of research and development, clinical research (in vitro) by Life Length’s TAT technology of Spain, and the latest human clinical study conducted by Princeton Consumer Research. The DNA test used in the study is “Cawthon qPCR Assay” to test the effectiveness of Telos95®.

Telomeres hold remarkable information about the path of our health and may provide the single most important biomarker of aging.

TeloYear Age™ is the DNA health test of our Cellular Age. It lets you track it based on your telomere length. Your telomere length tells you your age in TeloYear which maybe older or younger than your real age.

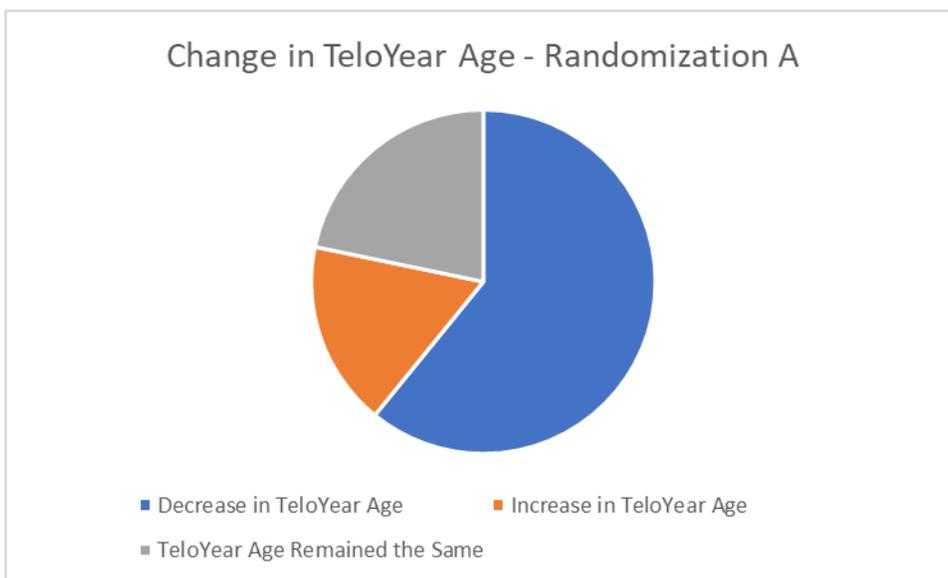

Telomere lengths are reported as the age of your cells and tend to shorten and fray with age; how fast they shorten and eventually become cell senescence (a stage where cells deteriorate- nonfunctional) depends on your Genes, your Environment, Stress level, Diet, and Lifestyle.

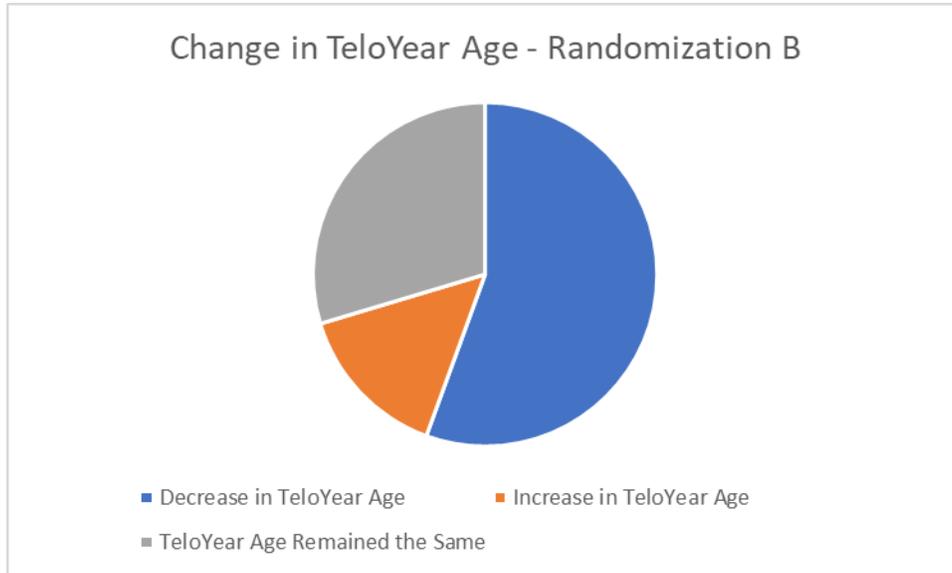

Telos95® is formulated with very powerful antioxidant polyphenols and has been clinically shown to decrease your TeloYear age by an average of 8.52 years. It reduces the time it takes to shorten telomere cellular age.

Telos95® discovery is the result of more than a decade of research initiated by Ahmad Alkayali, CN CEO and the inventor. The initial research was about SIRT2 Protein and Telomere maintenance in relation to the aging process. After experimenting with many purified natural compounds our research finally succeeded with the perfected composition of Telos95®, scientifically validated to Decrease TeloYear Cellular Age by 8.52 Years. The human clinical research was conducted by specialist on telomere testing, Princeton Consumer Research. In the yearlong study, eighty-three (83) subjects were screened, eighty-two (82) subjects were enrolled and fifty (50) subjects completed the study. Twenty-five (25) subjects in group A were instructed to take (1) one 95mg. Telos95® capsule once daily and twenty-five (25) subjects in group B took (2) two capsules once daily.

A total of fifty (50) subjects completed all aspects of the study by taking Telos95® for six months. Group A decreased in their TeloYear age on average by 7.43 years. Group B decreased in their TeloYear age by 8.52 years.

CONCLUSION

A total of fifty (50) subjects completed all aspects of the study. Group A decreased their TeloYear age on average by 7.43 years. Group B decreased their TeloYear age by 8.52 years.
